

THE FAMILIAR HORN, which for more than 20 years has called Palm Springs Volunteer Firemen to the scene of fires, will no longer be used except in cases of disaster or emergency. City Manager R. W. Peterson told the city council Monday that the city has already stopped using the horn at night, and would discontinue its use during the day when the move is made into the new fire station. Fire Chief Bill Leone is pictured above standing near the horn which was erected in the fall of 1936. (Desert Sun Photo).

Village Tradition Loses One Phase, Volunteer Firemen

As Palm Springs population figures continue to show that a small desert village is becoming the world's finest desert resort, many things that have become part of village life must fall beside the roadway of progress.

This week, the city council was informed that the fire horn, which for more than 20 years has summoned volunteer firemen to duty in Palm Springs, will soon be discontinued.

And, with discontinuance of the horn, there will come a major change in the status of the volunteer fire department, which has been in existence in Palm Springs since 1931. The volunteers have, since that time, responded to all fire calls sounded on the horn, but now all interested fire fighters will be held in reserve to be used only in time of emergency or disaster.

CURRENT VOLUNTEERS are Edwin Forbach, Bill Foster, Joe Henderson, Tom Kieley, John Kline, Fred Morrison, Harold Smith and Leo Wilkes.

School Board Applicants to Be Studied June 19

Consideration of applicants to fill vacant Palm Springs School Board seats and discussion of the annual school budget were today listed as major items for the board meeting set for next Wednesday night.

Last night's regular meeting was postponed until 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, by Member Arnold Rumwell. Members Frank Muller and Haig Harris were called out of town earlier this week.

The normal, five-member school board was reduced to a skeleton panel of three members last month when Chairman Ray Sorum and Member Helen Staley handed in their resignations.

Giant Report Labeled 'Absurd'

MANILA — A Philippine anthropologist today labeled as "absurd" reports that skeletal remains of a 17½ foot tall giant had been discovered in Cagayan Province.

"It's absurd," Dr. Inocencio B. Madaula of the Philippine Anthropological Society told United Press. "I cannot swallow the story."

Egypt Charges Dulles Masterminding Plot

By UNITED PRESS
The Egyptian government newspaper Al Gomhuria accused Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today of masterminding a plot to defeat President Gamal Abdel Nasser from within.

The bitter editorial in the Cairo newspaper followed strong diplomatic moves by Jordan and Saudi Arabia that incited Egypt's relations with other members of the Arab League toward the breaking point.

JORDAN THREATENED to close its embassy in Cairo in a step not far removed from rupture of diplomatic relations; and King Saud, History of the volunteers dates back to April 24, 1928, when Fire Chief Otto Adler "secured a dozen volunteers" and ordered an electric siren which was put on a pole in downtown Palm Springs.

The siren was operated automatically from a regular fire alarm box, and in case of fire it was only necessary to break the glass of the box and turn the knob, which sounded the siren and called the volunteers.

At that time the fire-fighting equipment consisted of two privately owned chemical hand carts.

THEN, ON FEB. 18, 1931, a disastrous fire destroyed a warehouse and building occupied by Connell's Grocery, Jost's Market, and the Pyramid Date Shop. In an account of the fire, the Desert Sun reported that "a chauffeur in a natty uniform singed his clothes and almost melted his brass buttons. The heat was great enough to pop all unwrapped corn in a store next door, until it looked as if a sudden snow storm had come up."

The loss was estimated at $35,000, and the next day Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce ordered a new fire engine. The engine arrived March 14, 1931, and was given an inspection by New York's Mayor James Walker, who was visiting in the Village.

Dulles Briefs Defense Chiefs

QUANTICO, Va. — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gave U. S. defense chiefs a secret report on international problems today.

Disarmament was believed high on the list of problems Dulles discussed at the opening of the fifth annual defense conference here.

The three-day conference, attended by some 170 U. S. civilian and military officials from domestic and foreign posts, was veiled in unusual secrecy.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said the precautions were designed to let the defense chiefs speak their minds "frankly."

of Saudi Arabia threw his support to pro-Western Jordan and Lebanon.

At the same time Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Lebanon and Iraq grew closer together in an anti-Egyptian bloc.

The Egyptian press reacted angrily and Al Gomhuria today made what was its severest attack yet against young King Hussein of Jordan.

AN EDITORIAL signed by editor-in-chief Anwar El-Sadat said Dulles advocated "an attack from inside" instead of one from the outside favored by Britain and France. It said Hussein was in agreement with Dulles.

Desert Area Forecast: Mostly sunny today and Saturday. Winds 20-35 miles an hour at times today, diminishing tonight and Saturday. Little temperature change. Highs today 83-93 upper valleys, 93-103 lower valleys.

Yesterday's high, 105, low, 68.

Russia Proposes Halting All Nuclear Tests for 3 Years; Control Check

New Bank Authorized For Village

City National Of Beverly Hills Granted Permit

Alfred Hart, president of the City National Bank of Beverly Hills, announced today that the supervisory banking authorities in Washington, D. C., have approved a charter for a branch office of the bank in Palm Springs.

The Palm Springs charter, the fourth to be granted the City National during the past six months is, according to Hart, part of the growth and expansion program planned for the City National in the Greater Los Angeles and Southern California areas.

THE OTHER THREE branch offices are now open and operating, one in La Mirada Shopping Center in Eastern Los Angeles; one at Lincoln Centre in the Venice area, and the third in Beverly Hills at the intersection of La Cienega and Wilshire. Each of these three branches are in temporary quarters while permanent structures are being built.

Opening date for the Palm Springs office will be announced at a later date, Hart stated.

THE BANK'S branch office expansion, Hart pointed out, is keeping pace with the phenomenal growth of the institution, which opened for business in January, 1954 and has climbed steadily to its present figure of over $28 million.

The City National Bank branch will give Palm Springs a total of three individual banks with four offices, Bank of America, one branch office, and Citizens National Trust and Savings Bank, with two branches.

Army Takes Over Haitian Control, Arrests Fignole

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti — The army today overthrew the provisional government in a bloodless early morning coup and arrested President Daniel Fignole.

Army Chief of Staff Gen. Antonio Kereau headed the coup. He was expected momentarily to announce plans for a new military regime.

Officers were reported to have surrounded Fignole's home sometime after midnight. They presumably took him into the fortress-like Les Casernes Dessalines, an army barracks.

The city was in a turmoil but no violence was reported. Kereau's action came less than three weeks after Fignole was proclaimed president on the heels of the May 25 revolt.

French Troops Clash With Rebels

ALGIERS, Algeria — French troops clashed in a bloody battle with a rebel force Thursday in the mountainous country some 60 miles southwest of Oran.

Unions Plan To Drop Idea Of Boycott

Propose Instead Blacklisting of Non-Union Places

The Riverside County Ordinance Committee, composed of county, state and national union leaders, in an executive meeting at the Del Tahquitz Hotel today indicated it would not attempt to boycott the City of Palm Springs, but would declare the "out of bounds" to all culinary and bartenders employees and workers.

The committee will take its proposition to the membership at the emergency meeting now in session at the Del Tahquitz hotel. Also brought before today's meeting, which is being attended by international, national, state and local union representatives, is a resolution adopted by the Hollywood AFL Film Council, which affirms its support of Palm Springs organizing campaign and "requests that all member unions and guilds concur in this resolution and instruct their members to support this campaign."

In taking the move of placing all Palm Springs non-union places on the "out of bounds" list, the union hopes to stop local non-union business from hiring union workers who come to Palm Springs every season in search of work. The meeting started at 2 p.m. today and will be followed by a dinner session tonight.

Pie-Faced Officer, Happy Woman Meet in Court

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — The angry policeman and the spirited young woman who fulfilled her life's ambition by hurling a sandwich in his face will confront each other in court today.

Miss Lucille Douty, 28, hailed into court under $50 bond, had her explanation ready for the judge: "It was worth it. I always wanted to throw something at a cop."

Patrolman Bernie Hyman, described as one of "Miami Beach's best," had packed a lot of his outraged feelings into words he blurted into his prowl car radio while ham, bread and goo dripped from his face.

"Get that car!" Miss Douty admitted to patrolmen who halted her sports car 17 blocks later that she had eased the convertible alongside the unsuspecting officer wearing the natty uniform and let go with her missile.

Paper plate, dirty napkin, ham sandwich and mustard splattered right on his face. Then Miss Douty who was driving several friends zoomed away.

Peterson Named Envoy to Norway

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today accepted the resignation of Val Peterson as Federal Civil Defense administrator and nominated him to be the new ambassador to Denmark.

BASEBALL FOR PALM SPRINGS? It's a fact, said Palm Springs and Yuma City representatives who yesterday mapped plans to encourage location of major league baseball spring training camps in both cities. The Village will particularly encourage the Brooklyn Dodgers to locate here next spring, according to, left to right, Ray Cowley, Yuma Chamber of Commerce manager; Don Soldwedel, Yuma Daily Sun publisher; R. W. Peterson, Palm Springs city manager, and Jimmy Cooper, Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce manager. (Desert Sun Photo).

50 Applicants Inquire About School Position

Palm Springs' school district will be without the services of a business manager on July 1, but school officials today were hopeful they would have a replacement for Paul Summers shortly after the first of the month.

Schools Supt. Wallace R. Mueller said he has had at least 50 inquiries about the business manager's post vacated by Summers in April.

Mueller said he has conducted a number of interviews with job applicants and hopes to come up with a recommendation near July 1 as possible.

Summers' resignation, effective June 30, culminated a dispute that had punctuated school board meetings for the past year. He has been district manager for four years and has served with the city school system for 18 years.

Nationalist China Indicts 41 on Riot Charges

TAIPEI — Nationalist China has indicted 41 persons, including five former Communists, for inciting the anti-American riots that wrecked the U. S. Embassy here May 24, Premier O. K. Yul announced today.

He told Parliament 70 other suspects have been released.

Palm Springs Climbs Aboard Bums Baseball Bandwagon

Palm Springs climbed aboard the West Coast's baseball bandwagon today, as city officials launched plans to lure a major league ball club to the resort city—for spring training, that is.

The city's sights are particularly aimed at the Brooklyn Dodgers, rated as "the logical choice" for Palm Springs, since the famed Bums would be located only a short distance from what may be their future home.

VILLAGE OFFICIALS joined forces with representatives of the City of Yuma, who reported that they have contacted at least five big league teams which have indicated they might consider locating their pre-season camps in the desert area.

Armed with a Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce pledge to underwrite a training setup here, Don Soldwedel, Yuma Daily Sun publisher, is starting on an eastward trek tomorrow to confer with officials of baseball teams in Detroit, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Baltimore.

The Yuma newspaper displayed a sheaf of correspondence with team owners and managers and said he felt that both cities had

FIREWORKS SHOW PLANS COMPLETED, DONATIONS ASKED

Final plans have been completed for the 1957 Fourth of July Fireworks Show, which is co-sponsored by the Palm Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce and local organizations.

Ted Land, committee chairman for the event, today issued an appeal for donations from local organizations to help defray the expenses of the show which will be the biggest in Village history.

The show is scheduled to be held at the Palm Springs Polo Grounds, with no admission cost to the public. In past years, visitors have traveled many miles to witness the event.

The fireworks committee, headed by Land, also includes Tom Hayes and Marshall Redman, in charge of the display, and Dr. George Milkie and Hy Ranes, who will handle the program.

Makes Offer At London Conference

West Counters With Stricter Production Ban

LONDON — Russia today formally proposed that all nuclear tests be halted for a period of two to three years and that an international commission be set up to control such an agreement.

Valerian Zorin, head of the Soviet disarmament delegation placed the Russian proposal before the five-power United Nations disarmament subcommittee conference which resumed after a Whitsunday break today.

THE SOVIET proposal said an international commission should observe how the agreement was being carried out and should report on its findings to the U.N. General Assembly.

Russia also proposed that control posts, suitable equipped with scientific apparatus, be set up in the United States, Russia, Britain and the Pacific area.

These control posts would be set up for the observation of the projected agreement on the ending of nuclear tests.

ZORIN TOSSED Russia's new plan into the disarmament conference after criticizing the slowness of Western consultations on the West's latest disarmament proposals.

The plan followed a hint Thursday from Soviet Communist Party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev at a press conference in Helsinki that Russia would be prepared to agree to the establishment of control posts in the Soviet Union and in the West to observe implementation of the ban on tests.

FIRST REACTION from Western delegations to Zorin's plans pointed up its failure to include any commitment to halt production of fissionable materials for military purposes.

Jules Moch, head of the French delegation urged that Russia accept such a commitment and warned that merely to halt tests would not stop the arms race. U.S. disarmament envoy Harold Stassen was reported to have supported Moch's stand.

Mayflower Crew Unloads Cargo of Treasure Chests

PLYMOUTH, Mass. — The crew of the Mayflower II today began unloading its cargo of 92 "treasure" chests. They include animal feed for President Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm.

The chests, weighing up to 500 pounds each, contained $200,000 worth of items ranging from Mayflower II construction chips to snuff boxes.

Girard Case Reviewed to Clarify Controversial Japanese Slaying

By EARNST ROBERCHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
TOKYO — The controversial case of American GI William Girard has become so clouded by emotion both in the United States and Japan that a simple recital of facts is in order.

The fundamental ones are these:

1. A JAPANESE woman, Mrs. Naka Sakai, is dead. She was killed while gathering used American shell casings and other scrap metal on an American firing range north of Tokyo.
2. She was killed by an empty shell from a grenade launcher fired by Specialist 3-c Girard of Ottawa, Ill.
3. Girard would never have been on the firing range that Jan. 30 had not American troops been stationed in Japan at the invitation of the Japanese government under terms of a mutual defense treaty.

THAT LAST POINT is most important. It is a reflection of the peculiar problems that have arisen and will arise so long as the United States plays its dominant role in world affairs and stations its soldiers around the globe.

Obscured is the fact that there has never been any intent whatsoever to turn Girard free until a trial is held to determine whether his act was deliberate or accidental.

The question has been whether the Japanese courts or the U.S. military should try him. And that revolves around the technicality of whether or not he was on duty at the time and whether or not he was performing official acts.

AMERICAN MILITARY authorities took the position that Girard was on duty. But they waived jurisdiction and agreed, after lengthy negotiations, to permit Japanese civil courts to try Girard.

It was at this point that American public attention was first focused on the case. The U. S. Defense Department then called for a complete review and told the Army to hold on to Girard until a decision was made.

Opposition parties in Japan immediately jumped in to use the affair as an excuse to attack the whole matter of American bases in Japan. They gained wide support as a result, for one thing, of statements made in the United States that Japanese courts were not fair or competent. It hurt national pride.

ALMOST IGNORED has been the special local circumstances at the firing range.

The area is posted, clearly marked in both English and Japanese. Nobody is supposed to enter. But the villagers began entering the range and collecting the scrap years ago when it was used by the Japanese Army. The scavenging was highly competitive and the villagers edged closer and closer to danger points.

The Japanese guard winked at the regulations and let them in. When the Americans took over the range, they followed suit and let the villagers in the area past both American and Japanese guards.

They are still doing so right now despite the Girard case.

THE JAPANESE contend Girard may have been on duty but he was not performing it. They claim he tossed scrap metal toward Mrs. Sakai and lured her closer before he fired. Girard denies it. He says he fired one empty cartridge from a grenade launcher in an effort to warn her away.

That is the point on which the trial will hinge.

Rancho Ramon Water Granted Rate Increase

The Public Utilities Commission today announced that it has authorized a 28.6 per cent rate increase for the Rancho Ramon Water Co., effective July 1.

The increase covers service to Garnet Gardens district.

In its rate decision, the commission noted that under present rates, the bi-monthly charge for an average consumption of 2,400 cubic feet is $6.30. Under the new rate schedule, the charge would be $8.10, an increase of 28.6 per cent, or $1.80 per customer.

The commission report stated the action was based on the conclusion that "it is evident that the applicant is in need of financial relief" and that the company "should not be allowed to continue to operate its water system at a loss at the present rates."

VILLAGE TRADITION

Volunteers were ready, a new truck was berthed in the Desert Inn Garage, a siren to call the volunteer had been installed, and on May 1, 1931, the people of Palm Springs voted a tax to maintain the department. (67 voters went to the poll, and 60 "yes" votes were cast).

The Sun said: "Citizens can rest assured this summer, while away, that property will be amply protected from fire with the latest equipment and a group of men who constitute the volunteer fire department, and who will remain here throughout the summer."

Volunteers were paid $1 a month in order to qualify them for State Compensation Insurance, and each man was paid by the year.

FIVE members of the original 24 volunteers (which the department was composed of in April, 1931) are still residents of Palm Springs. These are Ted Griffith, superintendent of Palm Springs Water Company; Harold Hicks, president of Palm Springs Water Co.; John Kline, of the O'Donnell Golf Club and still a member of the volunteers; C. V. Knapp, self-employed electrician, and Bill Leoncio, chief of the Palm Springs Fire Department.

Initiation of a paid fire fighting force started on April 15, 1936, with the employment of Bill Leoncio as the first full-time fireman. According to The Desert Sun on April 10, 1936, "the public was invited on Saturday April 11, to see the new fire station on North Palm Canyon Drive." It was the same station as now stands, except at that time the entrance was in the front (Palm Canyon side) of the building.

ON TOP OF THE new building was put the fire horn, which has continually operated to call volunteers throughout the years. A code was established by dividing the city into 24 sections, and by devising a separate signal for each section. This same code has been used for the past 21 years.

Leoncio was the department's only full-time employee until a year later when a second man was hired. From then on the department has grown continually over the years.

The department currently has a paid complement of 20 employees, seven pieces of equipment and two fire stations. With the increase in the paid force, the volunteers were gradually reduced to 18, then to 12, and then, two years ago to its present size of eight men.

LAST MONTH the city council took steps to end the life of the old fire department building and started building the new one on the Pevelev lot.

With the end of the volunteer firemen comes a suitable epitaph: "In spite of reductions in the size of the volunteer force and their restricted status; past and present volunteers have provided a real and valuable service to our community. Serving without adequate compensation and without adequate recognition, their work will long be remembered in the hearts of the residents of Palm Springs. Although their status is being changed it is still felt that they can and will continue to benefit the city." William Leoncio, Chief of the Palm Springs Fire Department.

PALM SPRINGS WAS proud of "the finest fire station in Southern California" when it was built in 1936, and had two fire trucks and a pickup as equipment. The engine to the left was the very first in Palm Springs, and was purchased by the Chamber of Commerce after a bad fire destroyed a building and warehouse here. When the building was new the trucks entered onto Palm Canyon Drive. The car at right is the first and only police car in the city at that time. (Desert Sun Photo).

Woman Starves, $500,000 Found In Home, Banks

NEW YORK — A half-million dollar fortune, stored about equally in crumbling hat boxes and steel bank vaults, was counted up today in the littered home of an 80-year-old woman who died of malnutrition.

Mrs. Emma Buhl de Hart, widow of a tugboat owner and captain, had been the original builder and owner of almost the entire main street of Port Richmond, Staten Island. She started it with a small candy store in the 1890's

FOR THE LAST eight years she had lived alone in a fire-damaged main street apartment over the store.

She had no telephone and habitually bought a small lunch at a nearby five and ten cent store. But Mrs. de Hart owned the building in which she had lived for nearly 50 years and much of the street.

On May 23 police and relatives found Mrs. de Hart bedridden and so ill she could barely speak. She was suffering from kidney and heart ailments and had not eaten for several days. She had been too weak to call for help, she whispered. She died at Sunnyside Hospital five days later.

POLICE, A NEPHEW and an attorney went to the apartment Thursday to search for a will which might dispose of the $205,000 in Mrs. de Hart's bank accounts.

They found $10,000 in cash in a tin box near her bed. Then the hat boxes were found on a shelf at the back of a dusty closet. The total cash find was finally added up to $265,000 early today. Search of the apartment was to continue.

She had no children but is survived by 10 nieces and nephews.

AEC Postpones Fourth Blast

LAS VEGAS, Nev. —The Atomic Energy Commission early today postponed the fourth blast of the 20-shot summer series for 24 hours because of strong surface winds.

The postponement was announced less than three hours before the scheduled detonation on a platform hanging beneath a captive balloon 500 feet above the desert test site, 75 miles north-west of here. The test was rescheduled for Saturday at 4:45 a.m., p.d.t.

About three persons in every 100 in the United States own some forest land.

Police Press Widespread Search for Killer of Girl

DETROIT — Police pressed a widespread search today for the killer of 6-year-old Mary DeCausin, whose raped and mutilated body was found near a roadside park in suburban Ecorse Twp. Thursday.

One man was held for questioning, while two others were released. Police worked around the clock tracking down clues and tips.

JACQUES PARES, an itinerant workman from Patchogue, N. Y., was arrested Thursday night. Police Lt. John Nichols said Pares, 23, denied any knowledge of the brutal murder, "but we're waiting on a report from New York on his fingerprints."

One handprint believed to be that of a little girl was found on the inside of Pares' car.

LT. WILLIAM Lutz of the Ecorse Twp. police described Pares as "a good suspect." He was arrested after neighbors reported seeing him near the child's home the past two days.

The other two men, an 18-year-old youth and a commercial photographer, were locked up Thursday, but then released after making statements.

Bentley Galloway, Ecorse Twp. police chief, said he planned to begin questioning known sex offenders today. "We'll round them up," he said, "and see what we get."

Galloway, who led the 22-hour search by 1,000 police and volunteers, promised to track down the killer "if we have to follow him clear across the country."

Palmdale Fire Routs Dozens From Homes

PALMDALE — Dozens of persons were evacuated Wednesday when a brush fire, pushed by 25-mile-an-hour winds, threatened nearly a score of homes in Leona Valley, 10 miles west of here.

More than 100 men from the county Fire Department, U. S. Forest Service and Zuni Indian units fought the blaze for four hours before bringing it under control. It blackened 650 acres.

The flames licked at porches of some homes, but all of them were saved.

Late Gardeners May Still Enjoy Roses, Use Containers for Planting

The arrival of summer usually arouses the planting instincts of California gardeners, many of whom are now probably wishing they could plant some roses along with the other flowers and bushes they are planning to set in.

All is not lost for these late-starting gardeners, says California Association of Nurserymen, for roses of all types and varieties are now available in containers.

Roses in containers are rose plants growing vigorously in cans, planted by nurserymen and made available throughout summer for the convenience of the gardening public.

To plant container roses, first make shallow depressions for watering and in the center of these depressions dig a planting hole the same depth as the soil in the container and twice as wide.

Attractive Modern Patio Tables Termed One Evening's Project for Do-It-Yourself Duffers—Made of Plywood

Here's a one-evening do-it-yourself project that any duffer can handle and will do wonders in brightening up your patio or terrace. It's a set of four sectional patio tables you can cut from just one standard 4x8-foot panel of fir plywood.

These tables are colorful and versatile enough so that you can use them indoors or out. Designed primarily as low-cost, easily built table surfaces for outdoor living areas, they can also be used as casual indoor furniture in a child's room or den.

ALL YOU HAVE to do to make them is cut the parts, mount blocks on the underside and screw in the hairpin legs which you can buy at almost any hardware store or retail lumber yard.

The plywood surfaces can be painted just like any wood. If you are something of a perfectionist, it would make good sense to buy plywood with a specially prepared painting surface.

This kind of panel is called overlaid fir plywood. It has a plastic-like resin-soaked fiber surface on the panel face that provides an ideal base for paint, eliminating the occasional difficulties like grain show-through one sometimes gets in applying paint directly to a wood surface.

EITHER WAY just make sure you get plywood with waterproof glue.

When the job's done you'll have a colorful set of accent spots for the patio that can fit into corners or that you can scatter nicely around the area.

A free plan folder showing you just how to cut out and assemble the tables is available. Write Douglas Fir Plywood Association, Tacoma 2, Wash.

THESE MODERN tables will dress up your patio and make themselves highly useful at the same time. They are one of the simplest do-it-yourself projects, since all you need to do is attach legs to exterior-type fir plywood panels.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

Our Imperfect President

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Eisenhower, both in his golfing and his press conferences, is playing against himself. A bad hook or a slice hurts his score on the links; a blunder or an ambiguity takes something away from his performance in an open conference.

And yet, a man is only being human when he makes mistakes. To me the President frequently shows up better when he flubs an answer or when, because of something inside him, he gives a reply which the White House staffers wish he hadn't. The last time I attended a Presidential press conference, Mr. Eisenhower made these revealing off-center shots:

1. HE RESENTED the calamity-howling of certain scientists concerning atomic fallout; and said like, "It looks like almost an organized affair."

A smooth, efficient, glib, head-line-conscious man would not have said this. What was in the back of Ike's mind when he blurted it out? Some reporters felt that the President was irritated because independent scientists were disagreeing with the Atomic Energy Commission spokesmen.

The AEC officials, notably Dr. Willard Libby, have tended to play down the peril of atomic fallout. Dr. Libby has said that the dangers of H-bomb testing are negligible when compared with the dangers of letting the Communists make bigger and better H-weapons than we possess. But independent scientists have tended to overlook the current enemies of nations and to see mainly the danger of atomic poisoning to the whole human race!

THIS HIGH-BROW viewpoint is all right in an abstract scientist, but I can't imagine that the American people would tolerate it in their Commander-in-Chief. Men like the octogenarian Albert Schweitzer, who has given his life as a missionary in Equatorial Africa, and men like the late Albert Einstein, are world figures, while Ike is primarily a national one.

Art, science and literature should be timeless and nationless; but let's not have any such dreamers running the United States of America between now and Jan. 20, 1961. I'm glad Ike was irritated at these scientists. It's a good sign that they won't sell him an nonsense about Americans and Russians being all God's chillun, so let's trust Khrushchev.

2. MR. EISENHOWER reacted strongly against the idea of erecting a tall, slick office building next door to the White House. "I have seen strong men come into that building (the White House)," he said, "with tears on their cheeks."

A President who had memorized what to say on this subject would not have said anything like that. I like Ike all the better for it. My own eyes don't have very well sometimes when I hear "The Star-Spangled Banner" or see Old Glory up on a pole. I know it's corny to be emotional about patriotism, but let's not have any cool, logical, unemotional men living in the White House.

The President has remarked to his press secretary, Jim Hagerty, that the famous old mansion is alive with the spirit of its past masters. Ike has warmly confessed that he has felt the spirit of Lincoln in the place. It is self-revealing when Mr. Eisenhower makes remarks that are obviously little to do with the bone-dry statistics of government. But so much the better for him and for his country!

3. THE PRESIDENT made a couple of mistakes and was publicly corrected by his press secretary before nearly 400 spectators. Mr. Eisenhower mentioned 12 television stations in Russia; Hagerty stage-whispered that there were 14. A little later Ike said the government had no official transcript of the Khrushchev television conference; Hagerty interrupted to set him straight.

Again, the President as looking somewhat less than perfect. But would you really want him otherwise? A small man in a big job would resent having an employee publicly expose him in error. But Mr. Eisenhower is a big man and he never shows it to better effect than when he stumbles without the slightest embarrassment over mistakes which are wholly trivial.

Ike's detractors like to catch him up on these things and to pretend that a President who is inaccurate in small things is incompetent in big ones. But there are presidents of two-bit companies who would not make these unimportant mistakes and, if they did, would snatch their press secretaries bald-headed for correcting them. I'll take Ike.

4. THE PRESIDENT made two other bloopers which cancelled each other out. He took a disapproving tone toward the Columbia Broadcasting System for its "commercial" motive in the Khrushchev interview. The implication seemed to be that this free enterprise firm ought to have exercised better judgment. But in another part of the questioning, someone had asked him if he still approved the bill to remove natural gas production from Federal price control. "Yes," said the President. "I do seriously object to any kind of public utility control over the well or the producer himself."

A contradiction? Well, if so, there is no merit in mere consistency. Nobody in the room doubted that the President believes that broadcast companies and gas production companies should be basically free of Federal interference.

The President is never more human and engaging than when he's proving that he isn't as efficient as a machine.

AS OTHER EDITORS VIEW THE NEWS

NOT QUITE THE SAME 55 YEARS AGO

(Hemet News)

Back in Omaha the most popular local newspaper columnist is a veteran editorial department worker named Guy S. Williams.

Recently he reprinted in his column a piece he wrote for the Liberty, Kansas, weekly Sentinel on Thanksgiving day, 1902.

Mr. Williams was then an enterprising lad not yet out of his teens. He was employed by the Sentinel as type-setter, pressman, reporter, carrier boy, assistant to the publisher, and janitor.

"Following is what this fledgling journalist wrote:

I am thankful for Peace, and that now the war with Spain is over, I will no doubt not have to live through another one during my lifetime.

I am thankful for my position on the Sentinel, my salary of $1 a week being ample for my simple needs, in addition to Mr. Tomlinson, the publisher, and tenor drummer in the Liberty Concert Band, gives me the privilege of playing his drum each noon from the time he goes to dinner until five minutes before he gets back, unless he should happen to stop at Joe's Place, in which case he may not get back all day.

I am thankful that Stump's Restaurant has at last got in a barrel of fresh Oysters from Kansas City, a crying need, and only regret that my salary, while ample, is not quite that ample.

I am thankful that this is a country where a farmer can retire and live on his interest after a lifetime on the Soil.

I am thankful for the Anti-Horse Thief Association and the splendid work it is doing. Keep up the good work, men.

I am also thankful for Mr. Mark Hanna and the Full Dinner Pail.

I am also thankful for President Teddy Roosevelt, though it is too bad about poor President McKinley.

I am thankful that it is possible for any American boy to be President of the United States if he is 35 years old, and not satisfied with being a mere Dude.

I am thankful for Liberty, both the city by that name and Liberty proper. For all these Blessings and innumerable others too numerous to mention, I am Truly Thankful.

The piece was received indifferently when it first appeared, and it has rested undisturbed in the bound files of the Sentinel more than half a century. Perhaps a world which did not appreciate it then may possibly appreciate it now.

BREATH OF FRESH AIR

(San Juan Capistrano (Calif.) Coastline Dispatch)

Those who were not yet born or were too young to remember Charles Lindbergh's epic flight from New York to Paris on May 20 and 21 in 1927, will never fully appreciate its explosive impact on the world.

In the late 1920's when cynicism was at its height and gangsters, flappers, and raccoon-coated collegians drank bath-tub gin served in speak-easies or carried it in hip flasks; when marathon dancers and flagpole sitters competed for the headlines with the daily gang killings in Chicago and elsewhere; when the stock market couldn't go anywhere but up and people were scrambling for quick riches—it was into this wierd atmosphere that Lindbergh's achievement burst like a fresh sudden downpour after a long drought.

Lindbergh may have often regretted in later years that he made the flight, but despite the overdose of fame it brought him he did give America a wholesome headline story that those who experienced it will never forget.

THIS SIDE of The Sun By Phat

Although traffic is lighter in this summer weather, we still need a light where Main drags get together.

In other words, what has happened to the plan to put a signal light at the confluence of Indian Avenue and Palm Canyon Drive? Making Camino Parcelo a one-way street did a lot to relieve the hazard at the X—but it still isn't enough.

MAYBE WE NEED signal lights at other intersections, say Palm Canyon Drive and Andreas, I don't know.

The four-way stops at Ramon and Indian seem sufficient and probably a four-way stop at Palm Canyon Drive and Ramon would help thin out the hazard.

But I personally believe that controlled traffic at the junction of Indian Avenue and Palm Canyon Drive is sorely needed. Doesn't look like it now but wait until the middle of next winter. Which will probably see more traffic than ever this year—which was heavy.

AM HAPPY to say that more and more drivers are showing courtesy at that corner and allowing drivers from Indian Avenue to proceed southward on the Drive. But still too many of them zoom blithely along and tie up traffic a dozen cars deep.

If the northbound drivers would only signal that they are going to turn right into Indian, it would help.

No—I believe the only thing that will alleviate the situation is signal control. With right turns permitted against the red from P. Canyon into Indian, north-bound.

REMEMBER THE GAGS in the old days when airplanes first began to criss-cross the southland's skies? What if somebody started to tinker with his engine while aloft and the monkey-wrench slipped out of his hand and conked someone down below?

Well, it's no gag these days. It isn't the monkey-wrench. It's the whole plane.

In two years, 16 airplanes have fallen into homes in the Southland—with 28 dead and heavy property loss.

When the problem of careless pilots is added to that of goofy motorists—the old line about the quick and the dead will have a new meaning. You'll have to be the former to avoid being the latter.

DID YOU KNOW, or perhaps you don't care, that it was only 35 years of age, June 14, 1922, that the first political speech went out over the air waves?

President Warren G. Harding on that day, became the first president to speak to the nation via radio.

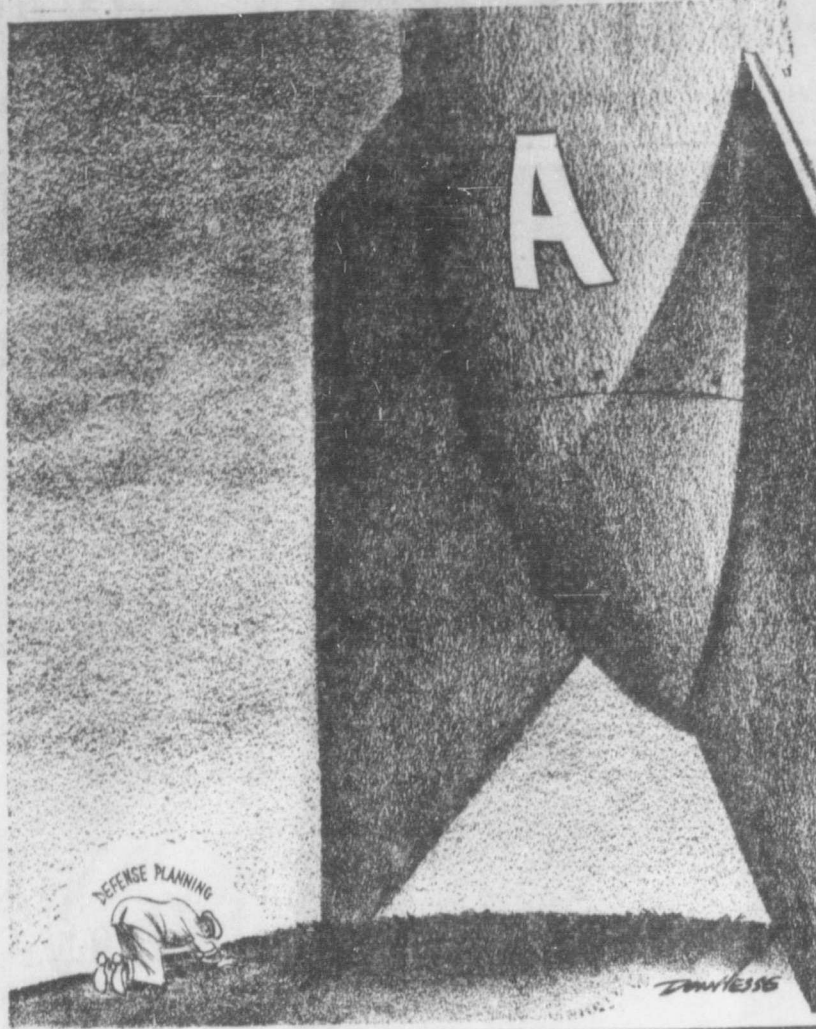

It was at the dedication of the Francis Scott Key memorial at Fort McHenry, Md.

HERE'S ANOTHER priceless bit of information on history. That radio speech was made possible 205 years ago today.

That's when Ben Franklin, arguing that electricity and lightning were identical, was told to go fly a kite.

He did and proved it. Ben was a great man. Light, heat, refrigeration, locomotion, washing, sweeping—where'd we be without electricity? No TV commercials.

False God?

INEZ ROBB:

Life Is Bowl of Crises

Oh, for the good old days when life was just a bowl of cherries! Now it is a bowl of crises. Just one darn crisis after another—and no happiness pill quite large enough to guarantee nirvana.

Never mind Khrushchev today, or nuclear fallout, or athletes full of bull and Benzadrine, or the budget blues or even juvenile delinquency. The larger view will have to go by the board. Chez Robb is rockin' and rollin' under the fell threats of the incidence of lung cancer in cigarette smokers and the sometime transfer of the Dodgers to Los Angeles.

Voices are lowered in this once happy home and its inmates are uptoozing through its rooms so as not to disturb the head of the house who is once more—heaven help us!—giving up smoking. That struggle piled atop the threat that the Bums may head west to grow up with the smog may not be too much for him, but it is for the rest of the household. Right now, I'm in a mood to shop for a better 'ole.

The cigarette situation is where I have come in several times in the past. You will note I said the head of the clan was giving up smoking. This does not mean by any stretch of the imagination that he has given up tobacco. It simply means that he has given up cigarettes and switched his allegiance to a pipe and an occasional cigar.

When he gives up "smoking," it indicates that cigarettes have been abandoned in favor of the other two. On these occasions he gets out Old Smudge Pot, carefully cleans it, and lights up. The result is a mushroom-shaped cloud throughout the house, with enough fallout and volcanic ash to make me wish someone would invent a pipe as "clean" as the U.S.A.'s new hydrogen bomb that gives off Channel No. 5.

Since he is the only member of the household who smokes, he has to make his supreme sacrifice solo. At this point, he says he does not need the encouragement of a good woman, just the sympathetic understanding of a bad one. Well, I figure the worst will be over in 10 days and the old home back to something resembling normalcy.

Fortunately, he had fairly well assimilated the Dodge disaster before the cigarette crisis developed. He has come to see that if the Dodgers gotta go, Los Angeles would be almost as much a natural habitat as Brooklyn.

His theory is that if there is any place in the nation with more screw tops than Brooklyn, it's L.A. It cheers him up to think that with all the 'odd balls at large in southern California, the Dodgers may never even know they've moved.

There should be a natural affinity, a real elen, between the Bums and the new neighborhood, if and when. Distance cannot mute the Dodgers' raffish charms, in the opinion of this fan, or the music of the Pacific soothe their savage breasts.

It was not always thus. The first threat of the transfer left him almost as depressed as the cigarette crisis. I only hope he will adjust to the latter as philosophically as to the former. Only a moment ago, as he was tamping the tobacco down in Old Smudge Pot, he said with an air of quiet confidence and happy pride:

"Let 'em go to Los Angeles. It won't change the Bums. No matter where they go, they'll always be impossible."

EARL WILSON:

Pessimistic Andy Griffith

NEW YORK — I like Andy Griffith because he's probably the most honest, most pessimistic movie star I ever met. Could be—some folks'd say—he's too honest.

"Gonna be doing any movies this summer?" I asked Andy when we met recently, right after "A Face in the Crowd" came out. "Nobody's offered me any movies to do," Andy said, talking just like he did in "No Time for Sergeants."

"Where you gonna be workin' then?"

"Don't look like I'm gonna be working."

"Where'll you be when you won't be workin'?"

"We have a place in Mantu, N.C., that we go to anytime that we're not workin'."

"How're you feeling, Andy?" I asked.

"My feet hurt," he admitted.

"What's wrong?"

"Oh, I bought some cheap shoes once in New Orleans that were too little and they ruined my feet."

"Why don't you go to a chiropodist?" asked my Beautiful Wife who was with me.

"Aw, they'd freeze my toes and it'd be a mess!" he said.

I congratulated Andy on his success in "A Face in the Crowd." He thanked me, but to him the wonder of it all was that he didn't collapse of fear while making it.

"I didn't go to pieces and get sick at my stomach and all," he said.

"The greatest fear I have," Andy went on, "is of rejection. I was afraid the Hollywood crew would say, 'What's so great about that ugly New York actor?'"

"Why was his New York show such a hit? I got so frightened that I got sick."

"But they always like you," I pointed out.

"They don't always!" he argued. "I had a failure here in New York, both on TV and at the Blue Angel, and in night clubs in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Louisville. They didn't like me."

"But look how well you're doing now!"

"I failed on Ed Sullivan's TV show and the Colgate Comedy Hour, and on Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey's summer replacement show," he insisted.

"What were you doing then?"

"Doin' the same stuff I always use," Andy said.

"But now you're not scared any more?"

"It's not that I'm so big a deal now, but I have gained some confidence," Andy said. "It was never their fault I failed, it was my fault. I remember standin' out in front of the theater the first day I reported for 'No Time for Sergeants.' I remember seein' Roddy McDowall walkin' up. I thought to myself, 'I don't think I can meet this man.' I was that frightened."

"Did you see 'Sergeants' when Charles Hohman took your part?" I asked Andy.

"It was the wrong question."

"I saw part of it," nodded Andy gloomily. "I'm sorry to say this—but the same laughs was in it when he did it!"

He sure is pessimistic.

Rhonda's Back Zipper Unzipped

HOLLYWOOD—The road (Chicago) company of that blockbuster "Bells Are Ringing" will star a man-&-wife team in the girl-&-boy spot created on Broadway by Judy Holiday & Syd Chaplin—namely, Betty Garrett & Larry Parks.

Rhonda Fleming's zip-dp-the-back zipper unzipped during her final curtain song at the Tropicana in Las Vegas. Rhonda, a perfectionist, backed offstage into her dressing room, where she broke down and cried over the accident.

EX-MGM TOPPER Do-e Schary's play about Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Theatre Guild project for Broadway this fall, is now titled "Sunrise at Campobello." Campobello was the late President's summer home on the coast of Maine. The Guild is looking for a "young Brian Aherne" for the FDR role, and the same actor who plays it on the stage will play it in Schary's movie version later.

I asked Jeff Chandler if Esther Williams, his co-star in "Raw Wild in Eden," will swim in it. Said he: "You know Esther as well as I do. She wants to act, not swim. But if she DOES, it'll be dramatic swimming!"

April-through-April love for "April Love" star Pat Boone: Pat and his pretty Shirley have been apart only 11 nights of their four-year marriage. That's a record for a traveling-show-business-type like Pat.

Jackie Coogan and Thkr Prujan formed a baseball team called the Hollywood Stars. It will be booked for exhibition games around the country this summer by General Artists Corp. The GAC nine consists of Coogan, John Agar, Lex Barker, Forrest Tucker, Kuldip Singh, Eddie Bracken, Slapsy Maxie Rosenbloom, Max Baer and Jack LaRue . . . And WOW! the competition those Brooklyn Bums will have when they become the Los Angeles Bums!

NEW TWO DIPPING into the punchbowl at Joan Winchell's luau's Zsa Zsa Gabor and Tom Duggan . . . Joan, who will head up an African safari this summer, served something called "Jungle Juice from Shrunken Heads."

Recipe: rum, brandy, orange juice. After which the heads on tap at her party were just the opposite of shrunken!

Vikki Dougan, who promised never to wear it again, showed up in her backless dress at the party, which Joan threw in her very proper parents' home in West Los Angeles—and Vikki threw it up for grabs.

Caught a sneak peek at Warner Brothers' star-studded "Story of Mankind," which boasts as many stars as "Around the World in 80 Days." If you're sick of movies about sadism, masochism, alcoholism, necrophilia, socratism and all the other isms except just plain Funism, catch this one. It's sort of a takeoff on Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth"—from the Pleistocene Age to the Cleav-Age, with Hedy Lamarr contributing most of the Decollet-Age.

TV TOPICS—Hollywood's movie studios are now bypassing those so-called "public domain" stories, lest TV beat them to the draw, as in the case of "The Helen Morgan Story" and the upcoming "Andersonville Trial."

Joan Caulfield knew what she was doing when she agreed to shoot "Sally," her new teleseries, at Paramount. Now she'll have access to all those eye-popping creations created by that studio's designer, Edith Head, for such picture pretties as Milti Gaynor, Grace Kelly, Doris Day and Liz Taylor.

Handsome George Fenneman, who flips the female contestants on The Groucho Marx Show, will use his golden voice to narrate two advertising trailers for MGM's "Rainbow County" . . . Jack Lemmon tells of the pretty nudist who stayed out of the sunshine until her wedding day. She wanted to be married in white.

OLDSMOBILE, always on its toes for talent, has sewed up Jerry Lewis for six special one-hour NBC-TV shows next season . . . That beautiful redhead who bears such a striking resemblance to Greer Garson in "Kathy's Big Chance," a forthcoming Father Knows Best segment, is Greer Garson, playing herself.

Los Angeles Superior Judge Harold W. Schweitzer said okay —so Margaret O'Brien, who'll turn 21 next Jan. 15, will receive $2,500 per segment the first year of her new five-year TV contract, $2,750 the second year, $3,000 the third, $3,250 the fourth and $3,500 the fifth.

Nanette Fabray's frantic fling on Friday's (June 14) Dinah Shore's show will include, of all things, a turn or two on a musical saw . . . Mike Todd said it about a phony: "He's still coasting along on his past failures."

Fish Fry Is Surprise for Host's Birthday

Friends of Ray Lusby gathered at Whitewater Friday night for a fish fry and a surprise birthday party.

The children did the fishing, providing the trout for Henry Cleary to cook.

The gaily decorated birthday table was set up beside the little brook that flows through the picnic area, and a fudge cake made by Mrs. Lusby held the central spot of honor.

The birthday celebrant received many gay gifts, and also a complete smoking set with a different pipe for every occasion. Guests helping celebrate the birthday were: Helen Christiansen, Mr. and Mrs. Car Larson, Dr. and Mrs. Lee Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cleary, Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Fitzmorris, Dr. and Mrs. James W. Scott, and the Wilham Fords.

Angela Lusby presided as hostess at a special children's table, which included Earl Lee Jr., Harold Palmer, Susan Dirkin and Elizabeth Cleary, Patricia Bernard and Stevie Fitzmorris, Warren Scott, Ardeff and Bruce Ford.

The Irish Touch

Irish beefburgers make good hot sandwiches. Combine 2 cups flaked corned beef, 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 1½ tablespoons prepared mustard, 3 tablespoons salad dressing and 2 teaspoons prepared mustard. Spread mixture on bottom halves of a sandwich bun. Top each with a slice of cheese. Broil bun halves on a cookie sheet under low broiler heat, or heat in a moderate oven for 5 minutes to melt cheese. ## Veterans Labor Force Forecast

Growth of the national labor force in the over-65 age group is creating a greater need for utilization of older workers, the Palo Verde-Coachella Valley Veterans reported today.

At its monthly meeting in Indio, the committee revealed that of the present veteran population of 22 million, 700,000 are 65 or older. This figure will swell to 2,000,000 by 1960 and 4½ million by 1985, committee officers said.

In the next ten years, it was noted, workers in the 24-44 age group will decrease by almost 1,000,000, while demand for workers will increase to 10 million.

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

TOLEDO, Ohio (U.P.)—You can bet on the unusual always happening at Inverness, where they resume the U. S. Open today, and this time around it's worse than ever. Back in 1920, when Inverness first staged America's top golf show, it came up with the oldest all-time winner in 43-year-old Ted Ray.

When the Toledo club tossed another golfing jamboree in 1931, the course fried under such a blazing sun that it was known as the "Inferno of Inverness."

GENE SARAZEN played with an ice bag on his head, and to cap it off, Billy Burke beat George Von Elm in the longest playoff in Open History, a 72-hole scorch. But they broke all the records of misfortune as the Open came back to Inverness Thursday.

There was a virtual hurricane just before noon. The wind was a gale and the rain came down by the bathtubful. Huge branches fell from trees. Lawn furniture on the club grounds rolled like topkins. Tents in various areas collapsed and only the "brawny" arms of the sportswriters, manning the guy ropes and poles, saved the press tent from making like a bird. The five-ton aluminum scoreboard moved two feet.

YET, HONEST TO Betsy, the ball George Fazio teed up just as the storm broke still was perched there on its tiny wooden tee when he returned more than an hour later.

The day started out "all shook up" when Ben Hogua shoved up with a bad back, received a delayed starting time so he could see a doctor, and then finally had to withdraw anyhow. That was hardly out of the way when the hurricane hit.

IT PROVIDED the wettest gallery this side of Coney Island and, after that, came a brief burst of sunshine which turned Inverness into a fair imitation of a Finnish sauna. But there was another storm en route and this one complete with almost as much water as the first one, drenched the last third of the field as it went doggedly and squishily about its appointed rounds.

But Inverness is Inverness, and trouble is trouble. Man the pumps man, there's another storm heading this way.

Cub Manager Bob Scheffing Hails Drott as Year's Rookie

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Manager Bob Scheffing feels his last-place Chicago Cubs could produce the National League's Rookie of the Year in 20-year-old pitcher Dick Drott.

The high-handed Drott, who popped into prominence when he struck out 15 Milwaukee batters on May 26, currently has a 4-6 record but Scheffing claims that is misleading.

"HIS RECORD easily could have been the other way around if the ball had bounced right for us in some of the games he pitched," Scheffing said. "Here is a kid who is one of the best young pitchers in our league right now and he could become one of the real greats."

While Drott shocked the baseball world with his performance against the Braves two weeks ago, he didn't particularly surprise Scheffing.

"I HAD DROTT with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League last season and he was the strike-out sensation of the league," explained the Cub manager. "He struck out 15 batters in a game against San Francisco and in another game he fanned 13 men in six innings against Sacramento. Drott pitched in 185 innings for me at Los Angeles and he led the league with 184 strikeouts."

ACCORDING to Scheffing, Drott "throws something like Clay Dwyer," the former Cub pitcher, "only he isn't as wild as Bryant was. He has a fine fast ball and a great curve; best of all, he has good pitching sense."

In stumping for Drott as his Rookie of the Year candidate, Scheffing said he is not overlooking the Phillies' fine array of first-year pitchers.

"I know they have some good ones in Jack Sanford, Don Cardwell and Dick Farrell, I'll take Drott over all of them though."

The three winning runs were scored in the first inning after two men were out. Nielson singled and Harry Dugan walked. Warren Linville then singled home Nielson, and Maurice Smith doubled in two more runs. Ken Wallace filed out to end the inning.

Williams Leads In All Star Poll, Mantle Second

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, although unpopular in some baseball circles because of his poppoffs and antics, was the No. 1 choice of the fans today in the first cumulative vote totals for the 1957 major league All-Star game.

Commissioner Ford C. Frick's statisticians announced that Williams had attracted a total of 15,235 votes for the left field berth on the American League team.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees, with 14,736 votes for center field, was runner-up. Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals led the early National League voting announced Thursday. Musial's total was 12,485 votes.

Porterhouse Sets Record

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Trainer Charley Whittingham today claimed that Porterhouse was the best sprinter in the country in the wake of the Llangollen Farm colorbearer's new world's record of 1:02 2/5 for 5 1/2 furlongs.

Harbert Ties Demaret After Finishing First Round Today

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Writer
TOLEDO, Ohio (U.P.)—Husky Chick Harbert went out this morning—one day late—to play a quick two holes which tied him with Jimmy Demaret for the first round lead in the U. S. Open golf championship. Each had 68s.

Demaret, the 47-year-old golfing grandfather with the boyish disposition, had grabbed the top spot Thursday with a scrambling two under par 32-35.

DARKNESS and dampness held Harbert, the former PGA champion, away from a chance yesterday to take the lead or tie Jaunty Jimmy for the pace-setting role. A near hurricane caused suspension of play in the opening round for more than an hour. On top of that, a late afternoon downpour bogged down the tempo of play even farther.

DETROIT (U.P.)—Tony Anthony meets Canada's Yvon Durelle here tonight in a nationally-televised 10-rounder he must win to keep alive his chances for a crack at the world's light - heavyweight title.

Harbert Ties Demaret After Finishing First Round Today

So when darkness set in, Harbert—needing only pars on the last two holes for a matatching 68—walked disconsolately into the clubhouse without getting his crack at the headlines.

FOURTEEN OTHERS went out with him at 9 a. m. today to polish off the last few holes of the first round.

But none had the chance that eluded Harbert because of the damp combination of cloud-busted circumstances.

THREE OF THE most inspired challengers to the two leaders today will be masters champion Doug Ford, 1952 champion Julius Boros and young Ken Venturi, each of whom shot a fine one-under-par 69 which left them left them just one slim shot off the pace.

And only one more shot back, at even par 70 were a quintet of hopeful shotmakers which included square-jawed Bud Ward of San Mateo, Calif., Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Billy Maxwell and Bo Winger, both of Odessa, Tex.

Milwaukee Fights Way Into National League Lead

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee bounced into first place in the National League today with fists flying and the Yankees literally fought their way to within four games of the American League lead. But Ted Williams got in the best "punch" of all with a record-smashing home run spree.

The Braves moved a half game ahead of the N. L. pack by beating the Dodgers, 8-5, in a contest that featured a fist fight between Milwaukee's Johnny Logan and Brooklyn's Don Drysdale, while the Yankees defeated the White Sox, 4-3, after both clubs had engaged in a 28-minute free-for-all.

WILLIAMS, who didn't have to resort to his fists, became the first American League player ever to hit three home runs in a single game twice in the same season when he led the Red Sox to a 9-3 victory over the Indians.

In Thursday's other A. L. games, Detroit edged Baltimore, 2-1, and rookie Jack Urban pitched Kansas City to a 6-2 victory over Washington in his first major league game.

THE PIRATES registered their ninth victory in 13 starts by licking the Redlegs, 3-2; the Giants beat the Cubs, 7-4, and the Phils snapped the Cardinals' eight-game winning streak, 8-1, in other N. L. contests.

Reserve catcher Carl Sawatski drove in four runs for Milwaukee with two doubles and a homer in a victory that was credited to Bob Trowbridge. Bill Bruton hit two homers for the Braves and Gino Cimoli connected for Brooklyn.

The fight between Logan and Drysdale erupted in the second inning after the Brooklyn pitcher hit the Milwaukee shortstop in the back with a pitch. First the two players exchanged words, then traded punches as players from both clubs rushed out onto the field.

There was even more action in the Yankees-White Sox game after Larry Doby of the White Sox had to hit the dirt in the first, inning to avoid being struck by one of Art Ditmar's pitches. Doby and Ditmar swung at each other and a number of other fights soon broke out, involving Billy Martin, Bill Skovron and Enos Slaughter of the Yanks on one side and Walt Dropo and Doby of the White Sox on the other.

Lawrence E. Dasher Is Ordained As Seventh-day Adventist Pastor

Lawrence E. Dasher, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist churches in Indio and Palm Springs, was ordained to the gospel ministry at a special ceremony held at the La Sierra College near Arlington.

The solemn rites of ordination were conducted by W. B. Ochs of Washington, D. C., vice president of the world headquarters for Adventists. R. C. Baker, president of the Southeastern California Conference, assisted in the ordination.

PASTOR VARNER Johns, former member of the College of Medical Evangelists faculty, offered the prayer dedicating seven men to the work of the ministry of the church — to be on call day and night to minister to the physical, mental and spiritual needs of a person regardless of age, color or creed.

In the new status, Pastor Dasher is vested with the authority to conduct the ordinances of the church, to administer the rite of baptism, and to perform marriage ceremonies and other types of specialized church duties.

AFTER HIS DISCHARGE from the Army where he served for three and one-half years, Dasher attended La Sierra College near Arlington, graduating in 1953. His first assignment as ministerial intern in the Southeastern California Conference was at Ontario where he served as assistant pastor.

He served as pastor of the Barstow church for two years and then entered full-time evangelism with Harold Flory. He has recently been appointed as pastor in Indio and Palm Springs.

HURON, S. D. — (UP) — Woodland conservationist A. L. Ford says more than 6,000 acres of trees are planned for planting on the prairie lands of South Dakota this year. Had growing conditions been better in 1956, Ford said, tree planting could have been increased by 20-25 per cent this year. But adverse weather cut the supply of high quality, acclimated nursery stock in 1956.

By 1975, according to a B. F. Goodrich study, the U. S. population will have increased nearly 30 per cent over that of today, with an estimated 26.5 per cent more people working and turning out 110 per cent more goods.

Curiosity Leads Retired Salesman, Around World, Now to Russia

By AL LE ANCE

Always eager to know what's happening on the other side of the mountain, D. P. Ballenger is a fiddlefooted citizen who spends his life following his curiosity around the world.

Today, Ballenger, a retired salesman, is on his way to the Iron Curtain capital of Moscow. He hopes to open the blinds and look at life as it really exists on the streets of the Soviet Empire.

"I want to see with my own eyes exactly what is happening in Communist Russia," Ballenger explained. "When I come back here next winter I want to be able to give my opinion of life in Russia as I have seen it."

THAT'S A LONGTIME ambition for Ballenger, who ended his first visit in Palm Springs yesterday by climbing aboard a plane for Los Angeles, where he'll embark on a Scandinavian Air Service polar flight for Stockholm and Moscow.

Ever since his retirement from his business life with the American Radiator Company, of Flint, Mich., Ballenger has been trotting across the heavily traveled or off-beat pathways to all points of the globe.

Motive? Curiosity—he likes to know what's going on, and he feels that everyone else should likewise look beyond a few headlines.

"I DON'T THINK enough people realize what's happening around the world," he reflected. "Unless people wake up — well, a lot of battles we fought might just as well have never happened."

Ballenger, a stubby gent armed only with a frank, sincere gaze and a contagious kind of eagerness, started his travels by becoming a charter member of Pan American World Airways "Around the World" club in 1948.

Since then he has enjoyed spur-of-the-moment journeys to such places as Haiti, South Africa — traveling from Casablanca to Capetown to "investigate the world situation" — Hong Kong (twice) and other Pacific ports.

FAR FROM BEING a wealthy man, Ballenger sometimes views his expenses with a ruefully raised eyebrow.

"When I figured out the bill for the trip to Tahiti, I figured I'd never travel again," he confessed. "But traveling gets to be a habit — once you get started, you can't seem to stop."

Ballenger finances his trips by tapping his life's savings. He decided to invest it in his on-the-scene historical study when he found that rising inflation and dwindling values were cutting each of his savings dollars to about 40 cents.

His long-dreamt of Moscow trip took on a hazy reality when he viewed the television chronicle of President Eisenhower's last inauguration.

"I SAW GEORGI Zarubin (Soviet ambassador to Washington) seated behind the president and I decided to contact him personally about getting permission to visit Moscow," Ballenger related.

He fired off a letter to Zarubin and in three days had a reply asking him to forward his passport to an agency in New York. Three months later he had his visa.

Right now, Ballenger is winging his way across the North Pole. In a few days, he'll walk into the streets of the Kremlin.

"I HOPE TO interview Khrushchev," Ballenger said, but he viewed this prospect with a hint of pessimism. "I know he only sees diplomats, but I'm hoping he'll talk to an individual who represents the ordinary American citizen," he said.

But whether or not he talks to the elusive Khrushchev, Ballenger feels his trip is well worthwhile — at least he'll be able to satisfy his curiosity.
